03 / INTRODUCTION

Eden Hill Atelier creates bespoke invitation suites and cohesive wedding paper experiences rooted in thoughtful collaboration, heirloom-minded craftsmanship, and refined artistic direction.

We partner with couples & planners to create seamless, elevated guest experiences from first impression to final detail.

04 / WHY PAPER MATTERS

Setting the Tone & Feeling

Paper is the very first physical touchpoint of your wedding day. It does more than share a date and location; it establishes the visual tone and the emotional feeling of your celebration. Long before guests arrive, your invitation quietly shapes their expectation and experience.

An Unbroken Visual Narrative

A wedding is a story told in chapters. By keeping the visual language unified from the first texture your guests touch to the day-of menus and signage, we ensure that your narrative remains entirely unbroken, intentional, and consistent.

The Modern Heirloom

In a fleeting digital world, paper possesses tactile permanence. These are heirloom-minded pieces designed with timeless restraint—crafted not just to be read, but to be kept, cherished, and remembered for generations.

Our Commitment to Material Integrity

Eden Hill Atelier aligns with letterpress partners who utilize 100% recyclable artisan metal dies (like copper and magnesium) for all pressed work. By intentionally bypassing the wedding industry's standard disposable, single-use plastic plates, we ensure your heirloom stationery leaves a beautiful impression with zero modern footprint.

II / ORIGINAL CONCEPTS

Is there a minimum investment required to work together?

No | We do not enforce a blanket studio minimum. Instead, each project requires its own custom quote.

Do you offer standalone signage or singular art commissions?

Yes | We gladly accept individual commissions for signage-only needs, custom displays, family crests, and other standalone event pieces, all quoted individually.

Do you design purely digital invitations and correspondence?

Yes | Digital invitation and “Save the Date” design can be requested as a standalone service or addition to ensure your digital footprint maintains a high-end, cohesive aesthetic.
